

Directions:	Identify where these figures are referred to in the poem. Provide the page number for each reference parenthetically.
Emmett Till
Mrs. Till
Mrs. Bryant
Mr. Bryant
Milam

Directions: Describe Mrs. Bryant's changing emotions as they pertain to the following quotes.

	Quotation from Poem	Mrs. Bryant's Emotion Suggested by the Poem
#1	"The Happiness-Ever-After./ That was worth anything./ It was good to be a 'maid mild' (75)."
#2	"Her bacon burned. She/ Hastened to hide it in the step-on-can (75)."
#3	"But there was a something about the matter of the Dark Villain./ He should have been older, perhaps. (76)."
#4	"Her composition had disintegrated (77)."
#5	"It was necessary to be more beautiful than ever (77)."
#6	"That was one of the new Somethings--/ the fear (79)."
#7	"She tried, but could not resist the idea/ That a red ooze was seeping, spreading darkly, thickly, slowly, /Over her white shoulders, her own shoulders,/ And over all of Earth and Mars (79)."
#8	"But a hatred for him burst into glorious flower (80)."	